Chapter 467: The Rise of a New Threat

A ripple of unease spread through the realms as an ominous threat emerged from the farthest reaches of the multiverse. Unidentified beings of immense power, cloaked in darkness and chaos, began invading peaceful dimensions, wreaking havoc on civilizations that had thrived under the Divine Triad's blessings.

These entities wielded destructive forces that rivaled even the greatest adversaries of ancient times. Their origin was shrouded in mystery, but their objective was clear—disruption, conquest, and annihilation.

The Nine Divine Dragons Respond

Upon sensing this danger, the Nine Divine Dragons convened in their celestial sanctums. With unwavering determination, they decided to confront this menace head-on.

Sung Ye-Jun, Sung Ha-Young, Sung Kyun-Rae, and Sung Da-Hyun were chosen to lead the mission, each accompanied by their formidable dragon legions:

Sung Ye-Jun's Inferno Draconis Troop: Blazing dragons capable of incinerating entire realms.

Sung Ha-Young's Stormwardens: Swift dragons that commanded the power of the skies.

Sung Kyun-Rae's Volcanic Sentinels: Beasts resistant to all forms of elemental attacks.

Sung Da-Hyun's Tempest Legion: Dragons imbued with the fury of storms and cosmic winds.

The Fierce Battle

The confrontation was fierce and relentless. The dragon legions clashed with the invaders across multiple dimensions, their roars shaking the cosmos. Fire, lightning, and shadow energy tore through the void as the Nine Divine Dragons' troops unleashed their full might.

Sung Ye-Jun, wielding the Blazing Spear of Dominion, led a decisive charge that shattered the enemy's core defenses. Sung Ha-Young summoned a celestial tempest that disoriented the invaders, while Sung Kyun-Rae's volcanic dragons erupted with devastating force. Sung Da-Hyun's tempestuous forces sealed off escape routes, ensuring no enemy could flee.

Victory and Spoils

After a grueling battle, the Nine Divine Dragons emerged victorious. They returned triumphantly, carrying the spoils of war:

Essences of Chaos: Primal energy extracted from the fallen foes, to be studied and repurposed.

Corpses of the Invaders: Brought back for examination by the Divine Triad's researchers.

Relics and Belongings: Mysterious artifacts that hinted at the origin and purpose of the threat.

These spoils were securely stored in the Nine Divine Dragons' inner worlds for analysis and safeguarding.

A Warning and Preparations

Despite the victory, the Nine Divine Dragons remained vigilant. The emergence of such a powerful adversary hinted at deeper dangers lurking beyond the known multiverse. They strengthened the defenses of the realms, fortified their dragon legions, and prepared for any future threats.

Their success was a testament to their unyielding resolve, a reminder that even in the face of cosmic chaos, the guardians of the multiverse would always rise to protect and preserve order.
